

President Given Leave To Become Visiting Professor

Dr. Todd H. Bullard, president of Potomac State College, has been granted a nine-month leave of absence to become a visiting professor of higher education at the University of Michigan.

West Virginia University's Board of Governors, which administers Potomac State, granted the leave to Dr. Bullard from Sept. 9 through May 31, 1969, when he will be teaching graduate courses at Michigan's Center for the Study of Higher Education.

"This appointment is a high compliment to Dr. Bullard, West Virginia University and Potomac State College," observed Dr. James G. Harlow, president of WVU. "It indicates that respect for our programs is increasing among the nation's best institutions of higher education."

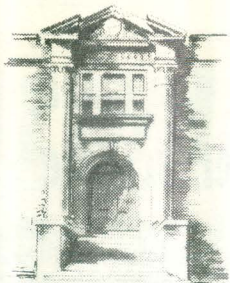

The WVU Board of Governors also named James T. Handlan, academic dean at Potomac State, as acting president during Dr. Bullard's absence.

A biologist, Mr. Handlan began teaching at Potomac State in 1942. He received his master's degree from WVU and has done additional graduate work at the University of Munich in Germany, Syracuse University and Florida State University.

Dr. Bullard, 37, is a Wheeling native with a bachelor's degree from West Liberty State College, a master's degree from WVU and a doctorate in political science from the University of Pittsburgh.

He became academic dean at Potomac State in 1963, was named president of the two-year college in 1964 and served as director of WVU's Parkersburg Center from 1961 to 1963. He is the author of a study of the AFL-CIO's involvement with the West Virginia Legislature — "Labor and the Legislature," which was published by the WVU Bureau of Government Research in 1965.

Dr. Bullard taught political science at Bethany College in 1959-60 where he also directed the Falk program in practical politics. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Todd Bullard, live at 114 Wheeling Ave. in Wheeling.

Homecoming Is Scheduled October 12

Freshmen Gather August 25; School To Close May 13

Potomac State College opened its doors for the 1968 term on Sunday, August 25, with the convocation for freshmen and their parents followed by a reception in their honor.

Registration was held August 27-29 and classes began August 30. The first semester will end December 20 and the second semester will begin with registration January 7-9 with classes commencing the following day.

Homecoming is now scheduled for Saturday, October 12, and Parents' Day will be Saturday, November 2.

During the second semester a spring recess is planned March 5-9 followed by a short vacation at Easter time and commencement on May 13.

President Bullard has indicated that enrollment will probably be close to the final figures following last year's registration.

Potomac State College is already in the throes of preparation for her traditional Homecoming celebration on Saturday, October 12, when she will welcome her sons and daughters back to the campus for a full day of activities. The date, previously scheduled for October 5, was changed because of the inability to schedule a football game at that time.

Officers of the Alumni Association have announced a schedule of events similar to that of past years beginning with registration and coffee hour in the Science Hall; a parade sponsored by the campus Circle K Club, a luncheon in Kelley Armory followed by a short business meeting at which time officers will be elected for the Alumni Foundation and two new board members chosen for the Association.

The Catamounts will meet Nassau College of Garden City, N.Y., in the football clash on Stayman Field after which a reception for alumni, faculty, and friends of the college will take place in Friend Hall. The annual Homecoming Ball honoring "Miss Catamount" will be held that evening under sponsorship of Student Government.

Anticipating that enough interest is shown among former students, group reunions are being planned by the Classes of 1948, 1943, and 1918.

Plea For Dues

KENNETH F. HAINES, '50, president of the Alumni Association, is asking all former students to send their dues for 1968-69. He noted that the ALUMNI NEWSLETTER is published with these funds.

Single memberships are $2.50, but where both husband and wife are alumni, the combined fee is $4.00.

Those planning to attend the luncheon are asked to return the reservation form included as part of this newsletter. Dues are also being accepted from all alumni for the 1968-69 year which will enable the alumni office to continue with publications of this newsletter.

Dr. Bullard Lists Faculty and Staff Changes For Year

The appointment of three new faculty members, four new staff members, and a change in administrative personnel have been announced for the 1968-69 school term by President Todd H. Bullard.

Prof. Orval J. Anderson, who graduated from Potomac State College in 1939 and later returned to teach here several years ago, is resigning his position at West Virginia Wesleyan College in Buckhannon to return to this campus as chairman of the English Department. He succeeds Dr. Louise McNeill Pease who resigned at the end of the past term. Prof. Anderson holds both bachelor and master degrees from West Virginia University and has done additional graduate study at the University of Minnesota and New York University.

Appointed as a new instructor in the English Department is Paul A. Steele, formerly on the faculty at Plainville High School in Connecticut. He holds a bachelor's degree from Bates University of Lewistown, Maine, and a master's from Trinity College in Hartford. He replaces Mrs. Dianne Baldwin Trimmier who also resigned at the closing of the last school term.

Succeeding Dane Harvey as an instructor in physics will be Harold W. Allen who just completed a graduate program in physics and received his master's degree from Auburn University in Alabama. He also holds a B.S. degree from the University of South Florida.

Staff changes include the appointment of Mrs. Jane Murphy, whose husband, Dr. Allen Murphy is a member of the faculty, as manager of the College Book Store following the resignation of Mrs. James Broome; Mrs. Faye Workman Beams, who previously worked in the Finance Office at the College, as secretary to Dean James T. Handlan, replacing Mrs. Clara Fike; Mrs. Margaret Heishman Corbin, '67, as secretary in the Computer Center succeeding Mrs. Janice Sawyers; and Mrs. Betty J.

College Evening Program To Include More Courses In Computer Science

Potomac State College will continue its evening program this year with a slight modification in the schedule to include expansion of work in computer science and a course in reading for adults.

Registration for the fall semester began Tuesday, August 27, with classes beginning September 3. Thanksgiving recess will be November 28 to December 1 inclusive with final examinations December 16-20 after which the Christmas recess will begin.

The spring semester begins January 7 with registration and classes will convene on January 13. Spring recess is scheduled March 5-9 and Easter recess April 4-8 with final examinations May 5-9.

Since enrollment in some courses will be limited, it is advisable to make application for the evening programs as soon as possible. The college has also reserved the right to delete any course for which there is insufficient demand. Application forms and information may be obtained from the Registrar's Office.

Instruction will be given by regular members of the college faculty and by other well-qualified persons.

Heishman Hofbauer, '45, as secretary in the business office.

Mrs. Gertrude South Stanhagen, long-time secretary to the President and more recently Administrative Assistant to the President has been named an Administrative Assistant in Student Affairs and will work with Prof. David G. Nuzum, the Director of Student Affairs. Her previous job will be handled by Harry R. Smith '60, who will also continue with his regular teaching assignment in accounting and commerce.

Maj. Thomas Maliska, PMS and head of the Military Department, has been ordered to duty in Vietnam in September. He will be succeeded by Maj. Richard G. Yost of the Military Department.

President Bullard said a number of other instructors will be employed on a part-time basis to handle the evening classes planned by the College.

First semester offerings include: cost accounting, introduction to dataprocessing, introduction to systems, welding and heat treatment, composition and rhetoric, English, history, plane trigonometry, and reading development.

Second semester classes being considered are: business law, computer programming, systems development, welding and heat treatment, English Composition and Literature, and history.

Recommendations On ROTC Program Gets Approval of Board

The Board of Governors of West Virginia University, which is also the ruling body for Potomac State College, has approved recommendations for the campus ROTC program that grew out of committee study and action by members of the faculty.

In essence, it provides that students coming to the campus for the first time will be required to take the first year of military science and then they can enroll in the second year or not depending upon their personal wishes. The new plan would also exempt those who are physically disabled or who have had prior military service.

The recommendations came after a year of faculty-student conferences and numerous surveys to determine campus opinion. Results were passed on to the College Administration which in turn submitted the report to the Board for its action.

'68 — JOY FRELLAN FEASTER, Elkins, will appear as one of the 40 princesses in the Court of Queen Silvia XXXII.

New Building To Be Completed By Fall of Next Year

Work on the new Academic Classroom Building at the southern end of the Administration Building is progressing on schedule and barring unforeseen circumstances should be available for use during the 1969-70 academic year.

President Todd H. Bullard has indicated that in all probability dedication ceremonies would be held next fall as the structure should be completed by August 1, 1969.

Construction is under the supervision of Carl Belt, Inc. of Cumberland, Md., at the cost of $714,253.

The building is located on the parking lot, formerly the tennis courts, at the rear of the administration Building. To relieve some of the problems created by the construction parking is now being permitted in a semi-permanent parking area near the Music Building. Spaces are also available on the parking lot at the Science Hall. Students and faculty members who previously drove to school because parking spaces were available have been requested by college officials to cooperate during this period of construction and leave their cars at home thereby leaving parking facilities for those who most commute to school from out-of-town.

Baldwin Concert Grand Bought For Auditorium

Those who visit the Church-McKee Arts Center Auditorium this fall will see the addition of a new Baldwin Concert Grand Piano which has been purchased by the college for use at concerts or other special occasions.

The instrument, one of the company's latest models, was developed following many years of research by the Baldwin people. Selection of this particular piano was made by Prof. Leonard G. Withers, head of the Music Department, at the Baldwin factory in Cincinnati. Bid for the sale was awarded to Barbera's Music Shop of Keyser.

Alumna Injured In Auto Mishap Still In Critical Condition

Mrs. Christine (Smith) Kidner '43, wife of Col. John P. Kidner, '42, USAF, remains in critical condition from injuries resulting from a traffic mishap earlier this summer on U. S. Route 50, near Junction, in Hampshire County. She is a patient at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington, D. C.

Investigating authorities said that the woman suffered injuries to the lower spinal area and that surgery was performed shortly after her admission to the hospital.

The Kidners were traveling toward Keyser in a 1968 Mercury when the mishap occurred. The car went over an embankment and landed on its top. The occupants reportedly were wearing seat belts and were suspended upside down in the overturned car. Neither Col. Kidner nor their son, John Craig, 14 were injured.

Col. Kidner recently returned from a tour of duty in Thailand and was planning to return last month along with his wife and son for another year.

Complete Schedule Of Events Slated For Parents' Day

In the past this has proved to be one of the highlights of the year and both college and student leaders are hopeful of another good response to this year's program.

A college alumnus, Clarence J. Cross Jr., who graduated earlier this year in the field of Arts and Sciences, has the privilege of being the first student to have designed the cover of the college catalog which was distributed during the summer months to potential students throughout the United States.

Cross, a graduate of Washington and Irving High School in Clarksburg, was one of several students in the classes in art appreciation taught by Mrs. David G. Nuzum who submitted cover designs for judging. The contemporary piece of work was featured in melon, black, and white.

Young Cross, who is continuing his education this fall, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Cross Sr., of Clarksburg.
